CONESTOGA VIZSLA CLUB
by Ann Brawner

The Conestoga Vizsla Club held an A. K. C. sanctioned field trial on March 9 and 10, 1968, at River Hill Farm, Clarksville, Maryland. A capacity entry of 80 dogs resulted in a busy two days' schedule for knowledgeable and hard-working judges, Mr. Alfred J. Sause and Mr. Joseph C. Collins. Field Chairman, Del Seelye, assisted by Burton Sharp, Bill Lutz, Dick Johnson, Bernie Taylor, Ann Brawner and many others, succeeded in running this full program with surprisingly few problems. A most pleasant kick-off for the weekend's activities was the delicious buffet dinner before the drawing on Friday night. We are again indebted to Del and Helen Seelye for arranging this delightful party. We are also most grateful to our friends from Vermont, New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey who traveled so far to swell our entry and to give us the pleasure of their company.

RECOLLECTIONS
by Charles Mosansky

My parents were caretakers for the Austro-Hungarian Baron Valbot Bela who maintained his summer home at his castle outside Zemplen Hogyala.

When I was 12 years old I was sent away to a Trade School and here I lost contact with the Vizsla until I was 19 years old. I was drafted into the Army right after World War I broke out. I was soon to learn what daring and heroics the Vizsla would play in the War.

After a short training period I was shipped out to the Russian Front. Our company was very fortunate inasmuch as we had a trained war dog, a Vizsla. They were rather scarce and the outfits that got them were considered lucky. The dogs were used mainly for relaying messages, standing guard and scouting for patrols. During the winter of 1915 we had a lull in the fighting and we began to dig in for a big spring offensive. We dug trenches and bomb shelters deep down under the surface.

One evening, while we were resting in our shelters, our dog started acting very strangely. He was restless and uneasy; then he stood perfectly motionless and listened intently. He began to dig a hole in the ground. At first we didn't know what to make of it. He would listen, then dig. We got down on the ground but heard nothing. The dog wouldn't give up; he was trying to tell us something. Finally our Commander caught on - the Russians were digging under our lines. We retreated to a position far enough back and dug in again. A few days later it happened - the Russians blew up our vacated positions and began, what they thought, a surprise attack. We counter-attacked and dealt them a very humiliating defeat. Because of that Vizsla's intelligence and keen senses, hundreds of our boys owed their lives to him.

In 1916 we were replaced on the front by fresh troops. We were supposed to get a short furlough but instead the Roumanians attacked on another fron and we were dispatched immediately to fight them. This time we were not so fortunate for we had no dog. The other Vizsla remained with his Master who was separated from our Company.

When we reached the front we had no ideas of where the enemy positions were. We sent out patrols but they never came back. Finally we sent an urgent message to the higher command requesting we have a dog. We were rewarded for shortly thereafter we received two Vizslas. They went out with our patrols and for a while, without results but at least our patrols returned. Finally one day while out on a patrol we witnessed a battle of battles. Our Vizsla came upon a Roumanian police dog. This dog was out ahead of an enemy patrol. Both these dogs were trained killers and they immediately went for each others throats. Here the Vizsla showed his superior skill and intelligence. He out-smarted and out-maneuvered the police dog and before long the Vizsla stood triumphant over his dead opponent. He also alerted our patrol of the approaching enemy.

We took up our positions and waited and before long they walked right into our hands. We took them prisoners without a shot being fired.

There were countless other deeds performed by this great dog, many of which I witnessed and others that I heard about: however these were among the most memorable heroics displayed by the Vizsla.

(This was reprinted from the January 1956 Vizsla News.)

HUNTING THE U. S. A. IN '67 (Part 2)

by Allan Hahn

Paul Rothan and Cliff Boggs and Csinos and Trixie hunt in Ohio.

Did you know that Old Ringneck is the same wherever he is found, even in Ohio? He would rather run, he is wild, tricky, spooky, crafty, and sneaky. Sound like someone you know? Sure, we all know him, and so does Cliff Boggs in Ohio. Yes, and Cliff knows something else about him, too--something no one else has mentioned so far in the letters I have been receiving from around the country. "He likes to be comfortable," Cliff writes. "There is a special time I know that my Vizslas can pin old Mr. Rooster consistently. Just give me a day when it is raining and cold, or snowing, and my dogs pin them just like single quail." Now if we hunters can get the notion out of our heads that we, too, like to be comfortable, we will try this out.

Speaking of comfort, Cliff relates that on one occasion after the season closed on private lands, Paul Rothan, his wife Shirley, Phil Brown (now living in Colorado), and the Boggses went out for a day on public hunting ground. They all loaded themselves and their dogs into Cliff's Van and had a "picnic" that day. Trouble was they had snow on the ground, temperatures less than ten degrees all day long, and wind upward of 35 mph--a real wicked day. After an hour or so of exposure they would return to the Van for hot coffee, a snack, a few stories, and then back to "misery" once more. "So maybe we're crazy yet!"

Allan Bennett of Sandy, Utah, reports that Utah changed its 1967 bird season from 3-5 days to 17 days, which provided a very good hunting season this year. The increase in hunting pressure, he feels, has not hurt the bird population. He has still found large numbers of birds while out working with his dogs.

Mr. Bennett informs me that each of his dogs has a preference and does best in a different kind of cover. (Now, fellas, you have a good excuse to present to the Mrs. for needing more dogs.)

The Utah Vizsla Club sponsors "Pheasant Hunts" for its members. Sounds like a good idea!

Some of the Utah Club members have made good duck dogs of their Vizslas. Jack Emery, of Sandy, Utah, hunts ducks quite a bit, and claims his Vizsla is better than a Laborador because it was so easy to train for the retrieve.
