HUNGARIAN JUDGING

Northern California Vizsla owners are excited about the chance to have a FCI International judge, Dr. Imre Bordoes, Budapest, Hungary, judge their dogs on June 30. The Vizsla Club of California is presenting an informal judging procedure at Carmel Valley Inn for Pulis, Komondors, Kuvasz, and Vizslas.

The judging procedure will be in the European style with dogs to be judged naturally and not stacked. There will be 13-14 classes including a class or classes for dogs over seven years of age for which there will be no charge. Each dog will be given an evaluation sheet by Dr. Bordoes.

This is an excellent chance to have every Vizsla in the area evaluated, and all Vizsla owners are being urged to bring all their dogs to be judged and to give Dr. Bordoes a chance to see the development of each breed in the United States.

Co-chairmen for the event are Mrs. William Crawford and Mrs. Art Carpenter. Entry forms may be obtained from Mrs. Carpenter, Box 2461, Carmel, California. Her phone number is 624-4429.

CORRECTION

Contrary to what was printed in the May issue of the News, certificates will be sent by the VCOA only to those dogs whose x-rays are read at the University of Minnesota.

NEW FIELD CHAMPION

Bullet V Selle, owned by Tom Pratt, Clarion, Iowa, finished his field championship at the Eastern Iowa GSHP Club field trial on May 4, by placing first in the Open Gun Dog stake, a four-point major. The week end before, he won a four-point major at the Minnesota G S H P Club trial. He was handled both times by Fred Schultz, Rosemount, Minnesota. Bullet is shown at the right with owner Tom Pratt.

VIZSLA CLUB OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

By Chris Kelsey

The Vizsla Club of Southern California met May 4th and elected their new officers for 1968: president, Christine Kelsey; vice president, Alex de Liothay; secretary-treasurer, Elaine Saldivar.

Congratulations to new champions finished in the area--Ch. Zsa Zsa Graham, owned by Bob and Stella Griffin and Ch. Buglair Tara of Twin Acres, owned by Garland Moore. Also special congratulations to Dr. and Mrs. John Bussing on their outstanding stud, Herzog Schloss Loosdorf, sire of 5 champions in 1967.

Southern California has had a nice group of young dogs out at the matches and Vizsla entries are rising in the area.

Set for the first part of July is an all-Hungarian-breeds get-together (Puli, Kuvasz, Komondor, and Vizsla). Dr. Imre Bordocs, FCI International judge of all Hungarian breeds, representing the Hungarian Kennel Club and the National Puli Club of Hungary, will judge at a fun match. Dogs of all status, puppies through champions, are invited. A pot luck dinner is planned with a dinner to follow the judging with Dr. Bordocs as guest speaker. (He speaks no English at all, but fortunately Alex de Liothat can translate.)

OFA adds elbow displasia certification activity

The Orthopedic Foundation for Animals, Philadelphia, agency for certifying radiographs as free from hip dysplasia in dogs, is expanding its service to include the certification of elbows as free from elbow dysplasia in canines.

Radiographs of the elbows of a dog may be taken either on two 8" x 10" films or both images may be taken separately on a 14" x 17" film. These will be evaluated by the Foundation's veterinary radiologists for an additional charge of $5.00 if the x-rays are submitted with the application and pelvic radiograph. The fee for the diagnosis of pelvic radiographs is $10.00. Application forms are obtained from, and x-rays should be submitted to, the Foundation at P.O. Box 8251, Philadelphia, Pa. 19101. A certificate stating that a dog is radiographically free from evidence of elbow dysplasia will be awarded to all dogs with normal elbows.

Elbow dysplasia is defined as "a disease in the dog due to a developmental abnormality of the elbow joint as manifested by an ununited anconeal process of the ulna." In such a condition a piece of bone at the back of the elbow joint becomes separated from the long bone (ulna) to which it is attached. The loose piece of bone makes the elbow joint unstable and painful. One or both elbows may be affected. The condition has been encountered in German Shepherd dogs, St. Bernards, Irish Wolfhounds, Newfoundlands, Bloodhounds, Labrador Retrievers, Great Danes, Bull Mastiffs, Bassett Hounds, and Standard Poodles. Dr. E. A. Corley, radiologist of the School of Veterinary Medicine, University of Missouri, Columbia, Missouri, who is also an OFA director, states that there is good evidence that elbow dysplasia is an inherited condition and suggests that dogs having the defect should not be considered for breeding.

COMING EVENTS

The 1968 VCOA specialty show will be held at the Chagrin Valley Kennel Club show near Cleveland, Ohio in August. Plan to attend!

Plans are now underway for holding the VCOA fall field trial at Killdeer Plains Wildlife Area, Harpster, Ohio, on November 9 and 10, 1968. Plan now to attend!

At the Flamingo Park Zoo, near Malton, Yorkshire, a Hungarian Vizsla bitch is fostering two bear cubs. The cubs were deserted by their Polar bear father, Sam, who was so shocked when he saw them that he tried to scale the 10 ft. pit wall.

At their public debut the cubs Yogi and Boo Boo were watched over by foster mum, Amber, their true parents seeking sanctuary among the other bears.

A new FIELD CHAMPION

Futaki Jocko completed his field championship at the Mayflower German Shorthair Pointer Trial at Falmouth, Massachusetts, on May 5. He was the only Vizsla entered in the Open All Age stake. The other 17 dogs were GSHP.

Jocko is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Perry of Acton, Mass. He has been trained and handled by Chauncey Smith, Jr., Chester, New Hampshire. He has over 20 placements in AKC and American Field trials. Following is a summary of the wins which qualified Futaki Jocko for his championship:

Mayflower GSHP trial, Westboro, Mass., May, 1965, first, Open Puppy
Mayflower GSHP trial, Pepperell, Mass., Oct., 1965, first, Open Derby
Weimaraner Club of America, Wash., D. C. Area, March, 1968, first, Open All Age
Mayflower GSHP trial, Falmouth, Mass., May 4-5, 1968, first, Open All Age

Futaki Jocko was whelped on February 12, 1964, the son of Field Champion Futaki Juliska and Means V Selle, one of the top field trial Vizslas in the country. Julie is a littermate of Dual Champion Futaki Darocz. (Both Julie and Darocz were finished in the field by Smitty--Darocz in '65 and Julie in '66.)

F. Ch. Futaki Jocko is shown below with his trainer, Chauncey Smith, Jr.

Eastern Field Trial Results (vizslas)

At the Weimaraner Club of Washington, D. C. Area on March 16th at Clarksville, Maryland, Futaki Jocko won the Open All Age stake. Owners are Bob and Nancy Perry. Chauncey Smith handled him.

Placing second in the stake was Hubertus Aprod. His owner-handler was Denes Burjan.

Jocko and Aprod were the only Vizslas in the stake. The other 18 entries were GSHP and Weimaraners.

Aprod was one of 25 entries in the Open Gun Dog stake and placed fourth.

VIZSLA CLUB OF SOUTH FLORIDA

On November 9, 1967, 22 members formed the Vizsla Club of South Florida. Three meetings have been held, officers elected, and a constitution written.

THOUGHTS ABOUT Gun Dogs

Reprinted from Nov., 1955, News

Editor's note at that time:

(The Magyar Vizsla is a hunting breed: first, last and -- let us hope -- always. His other admirable qualities rank second - as they should. It then is the obligation of all Vizsla owners to give their dog ample opportunity to develop natural instinct in the fields.

(Field trials create interest and serve as a challenge to owners to keep working their dogs through the closed season, constantly attempting to improve performance.

(Here we present the forthright views of a capable, nationally recognized judge and breeder. It is his wish to remain anonymous.)

One prefers a good running dog, one that usually is ahead of the handler but always at his command: not all over the country so you do not know which end of the field he is in. A dog that handles well, without too much confusing yaking. A dog that is a perfect retriever. Naturally, the dog has to have ability to find and properly handle birds.

When the German Shorthair was introduced into this country about 30 years ago, sportsmen were looking for a slower, closer hunting dog in comparison to the Pointer. (Now it seems many are trying to make the Shorthair into one.) Many of us feel the German Pointer should keep its place as a Gun Dog and be judged accordingly.

At once arises the talk about a "mechanical dog" when the handler has under perfect control. Actually it is almost impossible to make a mechanical dog out of a bird dog: he has to use his nose to find the bird and has to have the instinct to point it. You can improve these traits, but you can't teach them to him if he hasn't got them.

As I recall, the Vizsla has been in this country about four years, but nobody has done very much with them. It takes a great deal of work from puppy stage on--many informal trials to give the dog experience; to let him get the idea what is wanted from him. Only this in time will make a good dog.

You know, I think the best way to get the best out of a dog is for a man to raise a puppy and start training him while he is small, with loving care and understanding. If you teach a small puppy to retrieve you will very seldom have any trouble with him later on. You teach some obedience and it will go a long way later on in actual training. The Vizsla is a very affectionate dog and love and kindness will accomplish a lot with a pup.

What is needed is breeding in the right direction; continually running the Vizsla in informal trials at least once a month.

The first Vizsla trial reminds me a lot of the first weimaraner trial and, when I think a long way back, of the first Shorthair trials. All the dogs placed in those days wouldn't have a chance to finish their championship today with the strict field trial rules enforced as they are today. It will take a long time to bring the Vizsla to the point where he can hold his own with the other breeds because he hasn't the opportunity to get away with some of the sins some of the other breeds committed and benefitted by.

At the first weimaraner trials I attended the dogs hardly moved away from the handler's feet. Since then the Weimaraner has come a long way, but it took years of hard work and thoughtful breeding. The same has to be done with the Vizsla: watch all the promising field dogs, but do not fail to consider their physical qualifications. While we are just beginning to build the breed in this country, it should be every breeder's desire not only to produce a better working dog, but also a better specimen with some of their faults bred out.

Some of our Shorthairs 25 years ago definitely were not as typey as the Shorthair of today. Some of the Weimaraners I saw at shows ten years ago were a disgrace. At that time only money was the object, disregarding the specimen and the dog seldom was used in the field.

Let's not commit this same sin with the Vizsla.

(Present editor's note: How far have we come 13 years later? Perhaps this will stimulate our thinking and produce some letters.)

VIZSLA CLUB OF CENTRAL NEW ENGLAND
by Carole Smith

The Vizsla Club of Central New England held its first AKC licensed field trial on the weekend of May 18-19, 1968, and it appears that all went well. There were a total of 89 entries with 86 dogs actually running. As usual (The sun never shines a full two days at a V. C. C. N. E. field trial!) there was a bit of bad weather, but in spite of this, there was a good turnout of people for the two-day trial. The field trial committee consisted of Herb Clark, ch.; Carole Smith, sec'y.; Carl Richey, Max Holland, Don Morin, Dick Hathaway, Joe Davin, and Bela Hadik.

Judges for the weekend were Al Collela, Medfield, Mass.; Peter DeBye, Sudbury, Mass.; John Moran, Hopedale, Mass. These are their placements:

OPEN GUN DOG (9 V, 11 GSHP, 1 Brit, 2 Weim.)
1. Eastwind's TF Heido Ho, GSHP,
2. Hubertus Aprod, V, Denes Burjan
3. Ghost of the Gobi Desert, V, O/ A. Riboldi, H/ C. Smith
4. Piri, V, O/ Bela Hadik, H/ Chauncey Smith

OPEN PUPPY (4 V, 13 GSHP, 1 I.S.)
1. Matai Ceger, V, O/ Ken Winters, H/ Chauncey Smith
2,3,4. GSHP

1. Green Valley Tuffy, GSHP
2. Ch. Goldstar's Valdar, V, Anton Tinnesz
3. Queen Vom Stoppelsberg, GWP
4. Ch. Pirolin, V, Carlo Zezza

CORRECTIONS

The editor made two mistakes in the May issue while talking about the two new field champions:

F. Ch. Weedy Creek Dutches won the Amateur Gun Dog stake at last fall's VCOA field trial instead of the Open All Age as was reported.

Misleading terminology was used in the article concerning F. Ch. Jodi of Ozuki Barat. The Dog of the Year Award for which Jodi was fifth runner-up is awarded by the Illinois Association of Field Trial Clubs. Points are totaled for dogs entered in field trials in Illinois.

NORTHERN NEW JERSEY CLUB

by Al Mentes

The Vizsla Club of Northern New Jersey held their annual spring field trial at the Amwell Shooting Preserve, Flemington, N. J., May 4. Field trial chairman was Joe Urso, and the judges were Bob Skove and Jack S. Cash. A conflict in dates kept the entries lower than usual as the New England contingent were busy elsewhere. However, the trial went off smoothly and afforded a fine day in the field. Placements were as follows:

OPEN PUPPY (4 Vizslas, 1 GSHP(
1. Big Sam, GSHP, Phil Kerner
