"Poppy"

"Poppy" finished her Field Championship at the October, 1977, Vizsla Club of Eastern Iowa trial, handled as always by her trainer, Harold Wingerter. For over two years, she has ranked as the No. 1 Field Bitch in the country.

On April 7, 1978, at the Eastern Iowa Spring trial, "Poppy" finished her Amateur Field Championship in a blaze of glory with a 3-point major. She had just completed two cross-country plane trips. She is seven years old, and she was four weeks pregnant at the time. That's what we call a champion!

"Poppy's" proud owner is Marilyn Fowler.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was submitted by Bernard C. Boggs, author of the Vizsla Breed Book entitled, "The Vizsla." Since Hip Dysplasia, its causes and diagnosis are such a controversial subject, we thought that the information would be of interest to all Vizsla owners. Cliff is a member of the Miami Valley Vizsla Club.

SHOULD YOU TRUST X-RAY PROCEDURES & ANALYSES FOR HIP DYSPLASIA?

by

BERNARD C. BOGGS

Many Vizsla owners support the hip dysplasia program supervised by the Vizsla Club of America. This is probably one area that some good has been done, along with a little bad, in culling out dysplastic dogs from individual breeding programs. Whatever has been done to date has been voluntary on the owner's part and will remain that way.

The problem being encountered is that some of these Vizslas which have been culled were not dysplastic. They may not have had perfect hips, but they were sound enough for breeding. The problem results from inexperience of both breeders and their veterinarians.

A bitch was recently x-rayed using a fulcrum block with complete sedation at the University of Missouri, and was classified as dysplastic by the Orthopedic Foundation of America (OFA) located there. This same bitch was x-rayed again, using angel dust as the anesthesia for mild sedation, by the local vet and OFA evaluated it normal. This is not an isolated incident, but this owner repeated the x-ray because of the breeders' suspicion in marginal evaluations. He is very happy that he did, and is now going ahead with his original plan to breed her. I know of another similar incident, and am highly suspicious of more.

One problem, often suspected is that when the local vet says that the dog is dysplastic, the owner does not send it to OFA for evaluation. This is a very bad mistake. I am sure that in a percentage of these cases, the dogs would have been approved by OFA. That is something to think about if you have been developing that dog for field trials and breeding.

Another fact we must bear in mind is that x-raying for hip dysplasia is not without risk. It is also expensive. While it is strongly recommended that every dog should be x-rayed before breeding, it is not a decision to be taken lightly.

Perhaps we should begin to take a closer look concerning deliberately using certain dysplastic dogs in our breeding programs. Several of us have experimented recently with vitamin C before, during and after pregnancy of the bitch in the belief that the lack of it when the bitch is under stress could be a contributing factor for hip dysplasia. It is too early to tell if vitamin C has helped in this problem.

We should be concerned that veterinarian researchers make a break-through before we alter the basic and most important characteristics of our breed by culling good dogs with hip dysplasia in a mild form. Bone formation of the hip, whether influenced by genetic, environmental or a combination of factors, is not as important as the breed's temperament, general conformation or natural ability as a family dog, pointer and retriever. It is sad to note that hip dysplasia is apparently the only fault which is used in culling undesirable Vizslas for breeding.

It is a fact that the veterinary profession is the most demanding and requires the most knowledge of any today. The vet is expected to be proficient in every facet of it, if he is in general practice. Your dog cannot give him the oral clues or answer questions such as with your doctor. Much of your vet's work must be by hunch, guess, or experience, but on the hip dysplasia problem you can help him and your dog. Remain there with your dog during all of the OFA recommended procedures for x-ray and those used by the vet. Insist that a duplicate film be made at that time for OFA. If this is not agreed to beforehand, take your business somewhere else. Ask questions about the film while with the vet. After further study of it at home, send it to OFA yourself. You cannot afford to do otherwise. It should be clearly evident that the professional x-ray technician does analyze the film better than the average dog owner, but lack qualities the owner has. The owner is directly, emotionally and financially involved which gives him an extra dimension. If he does not feel comfortable with everything done, he will tend to question the results rather than accept them as a matter of fact. With experience, he learns that some of his dogs come back from the vet apparently crippled in the hip area for a day or so, and are not necessarily dysplastic. It is important to remember that the average vet cannot read the x-ray for hip dysplasia any better than the knowledgeable dog owner.

Before neutering a dog as the result of an evaluation of hip dysplasia, be certain in your own mind that the x-ray film and other conditions relating to it are convincing enough that another x-ray session and OFA evaluation are not justified. If the diagnosis is mild hip dysplasia, or something similar, the owner might be wiser to keep the dog for further evaluation in his breeding program.

I am not suggesting that any of us should consider breeding dysplastic dogs as a general practice. Given the choice, one might not want to break it down so narrow just now, but there is a point here that should be considered. It is possible that in avoiding one problem, there are worse ones being generated. Since every owner cannot field train dogs, those of us who can should accept the increased responsibility of insuring that we breed for good looks to prolong, or prevent, the development of two distinct types --- show and field. The selections related to hip dysplasia may have already contributed to this problem, but it is still too early to know its impact. I only ask that everyone be aware that there are several critical factors which can result in incorrect evaluations of hip dysplasia in Vizslas. Where the results should be questioned, do not hesitate, for you may not be the only loser. We may have lost the greatest performer and prepotent male or female in the breed.

Bill Fisher, Chairman

VIZSLA --- PULI TOUR TO HUNGARY

At the present time, a "Tour Group" is being formed to visit Hungary. This trip has been planned with the breeders of Hungarian Breeds in mind. Although all others are welcome, the non-profit trip will include Vizsla field demonstrations, Puli herding exhibitions, visits to the best-known breeding kennels, some side trips to Hungary's historical sites and the Lake Balaton.

There will be fourteen days of carefully planned activities between the 15th and 30th of August, 1978.

The total cost of the 14-day tour to Hungary, including round-trip air fare, hotel accomodations, three meals a day, is approximately $1,300 from the East Coast and $1,500 from the West Coast.

VIZSLA CLUB OF WESTERN MICHIGAN, INC., FIELD TRIAL

Darrell Cunningham, Field Trial Chairman

November 5 - 6, 1977 — Ionia, Michigan

The 1977 Fall Trial got off under cool and cloudy skies at Ionia Recreation Area. The judges for the Trial were Ed Wallencheck, who did a super job of keeping things running quickly and smoothly; Mike Aldrich, who has always given V.C.W.M. his loyal support. A new judge to our breed was Doyal Northrup from Kalamazoo, Michigan. Doyal is active with the Michigan chapter of Brittanies and did an excellent job and had many fine comments about our breed.

Our Trial, open to most pointing breeds, drew a field of nearly all Vizslas, as it did last spring. Vizslas did very well in the running, winning four out of five stakes. Our Trial was supported by Ohio, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and, of course, Michigan.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank all of the helpers. I won't go through all the names of the people who made this Trial possible; however, I feel one should be mentioned --- Leon Normington. Leon has been extremely faithful and helpful in marshalling most of our past trials as well as this one. Hats off to Leon!

We ended our Trial around noon on Sunday, which gave many of our out-of-staters a jump on the Sunday rush traffic. I would like to see it become a tradition of getting done early on Sunday, as we truly need to continue to draw out-of-state trialers.

Due to the small amount of entries, V.C.W.M. was forced to use a mixed bag of quail and pheasants. As Field Trial Chairman, I did not hear any bad or really unfavorable comments toward this practice. I did hear some remarks like, "I don't train on quail," or "Boy, those quail must be holding tight." After the Trial, several of our club members worked the course, as well as the bird field, and produced several quail and pheasants. Some were still sitting in the middle of the bird field --- many others were in the fence rows surrounding the bird field.

Although there were some small quibbles of not getting a certain stake or brace run by a certain time, to my knowledge there were no real serious incidents. The V.C.W.M. is still a young club, probably the youngest club of record. Ours will, as yours did, make some mistakes, and we will learn from mistakes and comments. As the Fall Field Trial Chairman, I would like to receive any comments you may have regarding our Trial.

As you notice, these results are through December 11, 1977. (February issue of the A.K.C. Gazette.) It is unlikely that anything will be printed in the March Gazette that will change these results. Therefore, these rankings are the rankings for the year of 1977. This applies only to the Gun Dog list, since the Puppy/Derby list is on-going and ever-changing. The Gun Dog list begins anew each January. It has become traditional to run a Top Ten Amateur All Age/Gun Dog list once each year when the final trials have been reported. I don't intend to change this tradition. These are points earned in Amateur events.
